DEMOCRATS SEEK TRUMP'S COOPERATION ON DRUG PRICE REFORM

A group of Democratic senators took their plans to tackle rising drug costs to President-elect Donald Trump on Tuesday, asking him to work with them and Republicans on the issue. In a letter dated Tuesday, the 19 senators named five areas for cooperation: allowing the Medicare program to negotiate prescription prices, increasing transparency, stopping abusive pricing, passing reform on incentives for innovation and supporting generic competition for branded drugs. Trump's focus during the presidential election campaign was not on drug prices but on his promise to "repeal and replace" Obamacare, President Barack Obama's signature health reform law passed by Democrats in 2010. REUTERS

MEXICO FIREWORKS MARKET BLAST KILLS AT LEAST 27

At least 27 people died in an explosion at a fireworks market outside the Mexican capital on Tuesday, according to a local emergency services official. The blast at the San Pablo fireworks market in Tultepec, about 20 miles north of Mexico City, also injured at least 70 others, according to a tweet from federal police. Isidro Sanchez, the head of Tultepec emergency services, said the death toll was preliminary as rescue workers scoured the site. Local television showed a flurry of multi-colored fireworks exploding in all directions as a massive plume of smoke rose above the market while people frantically fled. REUTERS

SC LAWMAKERS PROPOSE PORNOGRAPHY BLOCK ON NEW COMPUTERS

Computers and devices sold in South Carolina that can access the internet would be required to have filters installed to prevent people from viewing pornography, although buyers could pay a $20 fee to remove the blocking software under a proposal before the legislature. The amendment would require manufacturers or sellers of computers and internet-accessible devices to install software that blocks pornography, according to a draft of the amendment filed with the South Carolina General Assembly on Dec. 15. One of its sponsors said on Tuesday the amendment would help raise money for the state's task force to combat human trafficking, adding that the measure would not restrict their legal liberties, indicating it would allow for viewing adult pornography. REUTERS

Real estate experts: 2017 will be a home buyer's market

Price increases will generally soften, and mobility makes affordable neighborhoods more desirable.

AMANDA MIKELBERG
@MetroNewYork
amanda.mikelberg@metro.us

It will be a home buyer's market in 2017, experts from StreetEasy predict in a newly released forecast report.

With transportation changes taking effect, price hikes slowing and more people spreading to less trendy neighborhoods, the year to come will be a ripe time for buyers. Prices for luxury dwellings in Manhattan saw continuous decline in 2016, and that's expected to "seep into the rest of the market," StreetEasy economist Krishna Rao told Metro. The rate of luxury development is simply outpacing demand.

"For the buyers, if you're thinking about making the leap, have saved enough money for a down payment, have your financial house in order, now might be a good time to make a move," Rao said.

"If you are a seller you don't want to price too aggressively and have your property sit on the market and get stale," Rao added.

Rao pointed out their "tipping point" metric shows that it would only take five years of renting in a neighborhood for it to become more cost effective to buy.

That doesn't mean that prices are going down, just increasing at a slower rate.

Gary Malin, president of Citi Habitats, said with myriad new transportation options,

"If you are a seller you don't want to price too aggressively and have your property sit on the market and get stale."

Krishna Rao

including Uber, Lyft, CitiBike and several new subway lines, "the sense of isolation in farther areas is going away."

For example, the StreetEasy report declared Kingsbridge in the Bronx as 2017's hottest neighborhood. Fort Greene, Bath Beach and Prospect Park-Lefferts Gardens in Brooklyn, and Bayside, Queens, rounded out the top five.

"By need or desire they are looking at places that weren't on their hit list," he said. "Years ago you didn't have as much luxury outside of Manhattan. Now there are buildings going up in Long Island City that create an amazing lifestyle."

Renters on the other hand might see gentler increases but will still not have the advantage, both Rao and Malin said.

"It's not a situation where renters will have an ability to negotiate. Rents are still increasing faster than incomes," Rao said. Looking in areas a little farther away, or getting a new roommate, are renters best bets for meeting the affordability challenge, he said.

No such thing as 'Coughlin time'

Tom Coughlin is focusing on helping kids with cancer.

KRISTIAN DYER
@KristianRDyer
sports@metro.us

It's about 11 a.m. and Tom Coughlin is not only running late, he's downright behind schedule. The former New York Giants head coach is not at all accustomed to this; after all, this is the man who invented "Coughlin Time" where being on time to a meeting or a practice meant actually being late.

Be there five minutes early or don't even bother showing up.

But here is Coughlin, dressed in a light-blue sweater, a meticulously ironed khaki pants, laughing as he acknowledges he's behind schedule. He's pushing a cart, loaded with gifts, down the hallway of Hackensack University Medical Center. He is here as part of the Jay Fund, working in conjunction with Tomorrow's Children's Fund, handing out gifts to the young patients battling cancer.

But he's doing more than just handing out a "Star Trek" toy or a DVD movie. He is offering a smile, a ray of hope to the children and their parents.

This might be the only place where "Coughlin Time" simply doesn't exist.

The irony is that most of these children don't know that the man handing them a gift is a two-time Super Bowl winner. He comes in with a gift or two and spends a few minutes with each family.

Many parents are still shaken by the news that their child has a diagnosis that carries so much weight and hurt. But here is a man in the spotlight who wants to listen, to encourage them and "It is so important psychologically, the back and forth. The child wants to know that the parents are OK, that they are not burden. The parent needs to make sure that they exude confidence to the child."

Tom Coughlin

when need be, give them a hug.

He cares for them, even if they only just met. That's because this fight against cancer is a personal one for him.

Coughlin's involvement with families with cancer dates back to 1991 when he was the head coach at Boston College. One of his players, Jay McGillis, was diagnosed with leukemia and Coughlin watched the linebacker and his family battle the disease.

The memories of the McGillis family led to Coughlin's creation of the Jay Fund a few years later. The charity not only helps better the lives of pediatric cancer patients but also cares for their families.

"These kids are the real heroes. They and their parents," Coughlin tells Metro. "They go through so much not just physically but emotionally as well."

It's almost noon and the itinerary for the day might as well be thrown out the window.

The pile of hand-wrapped gifts he's been pushing around on that cart has been reduced to a few. Coughlin is ready to head into a room of a child when a mother peeks out from behind the closed door of an adjacent room. The lights are off and her son is lying on the hospital bed. This isn't the first time today that Coughlin is being asked to call an audible.

"We're not on 'Coughlin Time' when we visit these kids," Coughlin says. "Every one of these kids in every hospital room you visit, it's a different story there. I've seen it so many times ... the parents run to the side of the sick child. Everything else is at a standstill."

This room with the boy inside, lying on his side in the dark room, is a new patient. Just checked in.

The mother emerges from the room and whispers, getting the attention of a member of Coughlin's staff.

Coughlin is pulled aside. He then turns his attention to this mother. Could he stop in and visit him? He's a huge football fan, she says. It would mean so much.

A smile, a rare sight on Coughlin's mouth when he walked the sidelines, emerges. Of course he will.

An expanded version of this story can be seen on metro.us

Tom Coughlin Jay Fund has helped thousands of families

Tom Coughlin founded the Jay Fund in 1996 to honor Jay McGillis, whom he coached at Boston College. After witnessing McGillis' battle with cancer and his family's emotional and financial difficulties, he vowed to do what he could to help other families with kids fighting cancer. Since 1996, the Jay Fund has helped more than 4,000 families and donated more than $6 million in grants to families in northeast Florida, New York and New Jersey. The fund offers such help as grocery purchases and mortgage payments. It also awards an annual college scholarship to cancer patients and survivors.

Partnership brings aid to families with child cancer patients

The Tomorrow's Children's Fund was founded in 1982 by a group of committed parents to help their children and others like them with cancer and serious blood disorders, according to the organization's website. TCF provides a warm, healthy and loving environment for children in treatment and a full scope of services to relieve families' emotional and financial stress. In addition to financial aid, TCF hosts events, outings, special guests and parties.

"The Jay Fund has been an amazing partner with the Tomorrow's Children's Fund," said Executive Director Lynn Hoffman. "They give us a grant each year which is twofold. One part of the grant is used for Shop Rite gift cards. The second part is used for financial aid for our families."

The organization is located at the Hackensack University Medical Center.

New York City creates Bias Response Team in wake of hate incidents

The city's human rights commission reports an uptick in discrimination and harassment.

GARY KANE
@MetroNewYork
gary.kane@metro.us

Alarmed by a surge in reported incidents of hate at subway stations and bus stops, the city is creating a Bias Response Team to help victims report harassment and assaults to police, officials announced Tuesday.

The team will be manned by employees of the city's Commission on Human Rights and intends to reach out to victims whenever they learn of a bias-related incident.

The commission typically receives 30 to 50 calls a day about such incidents and has seen an uptick in calls since the presidential election, according to the city.

"No one in this city should feel unsafe or threatened for being who they are," said commission Chairwoman Carmelyn Malalis. "We are using every resource at our disposal to inform people of their rights and encourage them to report acts of bias and discrimination."

Hate crimes have increased by more than 30 percent this year from 2015, according to the NYPD.

The commission determined that many incidents of hate occur near transit stations. Subsequently, commissioners have decided to distribute information about the protections provided by the city's human rights law at eight subway stations across all five boroughs.

The commission also said it is launching anti-discrimination ads on transit apps, as well as on Google and Facebook. The ads urge people to report to the commission any incidents of hate on subways, buses or other public places.

The commission is currently investigating more than 400 complaints about discrimination on the basis of race, religion and citizenship status.

AG: 'Real Housewives of Atlanta' production company owes workers $411K in back pay Workers for the production company behind shows like Bravo's "The Real Housewives of Atlanta" will get restitution for overtime hours they are owed, New York Attorney General Eric T. Schneiderman announced.

True Entertainment will pay $411,000 in back wages for unlawfully denying production assistants and associate producers overtime pay when they worked more than 40 hours. The investigation found that workers often clocked 50 to 72 hours per week without compensation.

"My office is committed to enforcing overtime laws, which guarantee fair compensation for putting in long hours, and discourage employers from assigning extremely long workweeks," Schneiderman said. "Production workers in the entertainment industry routinely work more than 40 hours per week, and I will do everything in my power to defend their right to overtime pay."

Following the investigation, True Entertainment agreed to make changes to ensure it is compliant with the law going forward.

"The union is working with employees to negotiate enforceable contracts that guarantee time and a half pay to APs [associate producers] and other overtime-eligible employees for all hours above 40 in a week," said Lowell Peterson, executive director of the Writers Guild of America East.

How to avoid the biggest scams this Christmas

Mo' technology,

AMANDA MIKELBERG
@MetroNewYork
amanda.mikelberg@metro.us

Between November and December 2016, Americans will spend approximately $800 billion, the National Retail Federation predicts.

Add to that tens of billions of dollars lost on scams: E-cards loaded with malware, phony charities, credit card skimmers — and even fake puppies. And a variety of new shopping and payment apps such as Venmo, an app for sending and receiving payments, make victims out of otherwise savvy people.

Because Venmo confirms money transfers instantly, it can be misleading as bank transactions can take days to clear, and in the meantime, a victim could have sent out the goods or done a service before actually getting the money — which would never come.

One rampant scheme this year is the shipping phish — an email telling you there's been an error with a shipment and that you need to confirm some information for it to be completed. Adding another layer of fraud is that the email contains a link to a bogus website.

"Amazon emails that lead to a fake site or offer coupons and sales have been particularly big this year," Steven Weisman, Bentley University law professor and founder of the Scamicide blog, told Metro.

Making matters worse, he said, is that people are shopping on their phones using public Wi-Fi as it makes for easy hacking.

"People don't take the same security precautions they do on a computer and don't have security software installed, or a password," he said. Websites and apps continue to run unknowingly, and there's often less control over cookies and background data.

Also trending this year: the puppy scam.

"It looks like you're going to an American Kennel Club approved seller, and people are paying for a dog to get shipped but they never get the dog," Weisman said. He added that often the site will take a photo from somewhere else. You can find the real source using Google's Inside Search tool.

Weisman said a big one for the holidays is the gift card drain: Scammers go into a store and scan the pin and card numbers off of the rack of gift cards, and then check online when the card is sold and activated, when it's then

Better Business Bureau lists the top scams for the 2016 holiday season:

1. Look-alike websites
2. Fake shipping notifications
3. E-cards with malware
4. Send a letter from Santa
5. Loved-one in need
6. Phony charities
7. Temporary holiday jobs
8. Unusual forms of payment
9. Free gift cards
10. Social media gift exchanges
11. Puppy scams
12. Fake coupons possible to make online purchases.

"Only buy gift cards from behind the counter," he advised.

Be a conscientious swiper. "Strip cards are particularly vulnerable to these days because of skimmers. New Yorkers are at a high risk for skimmers," as the ATMs around the city can easily be fitted with the information skimming devices fitted on the outside or hidden on the inside.

Weisman's final words of wisdom: Using a debit card to shop is a big mistake, as the liability laws won't cover fraud if you don't report it right away, and in the meantime you'll be locked out of your checking account as they investigate. Credit cards have liability protection. Furthermore — chip cards are much safer than strip cards, because they change the account number with each transaction.

Platelet Rich Plasma Therapy (PRP)

A new approach for treating Tendon Injuries for the Achilles, Tendonitis and Plantar Fasciitis (Heel and Arch Pain)

Take The Foot Health Checkup

- My toes are stretched, discolored and thickened.
- The sides of my toes dig into the skin and hurt.
- I have a large bump behind my big toe (or little toe) which is always red.
- I get an extremely painful "cramp" in the area of my third and fourth toes when wearing shoes.
- My toes aren't straight— they are all cocked-up, bent and hurt.
- I have painful calluses on the ball of my foot which keep building up.
- I have corns on my toes which get thick no matter what shoe size I wear.
- The bottom of my heel hurts all day, but it's worse when I step out of bed in the morning.
- I have cramps in my legs which always happen when I walk the same distance.
- My ankles are swollen most of the time.
- My feet are always dry and scaly— sometimes they itch.
- My feet feel hot all over when I stand or walk a lot.
- I have numbness, burning, infection, persistent pain, skin rashes, or open sores.

P.A.D. Raises Your Risk of Heart Attack and Stroke

People over age of 50 that have a history of diabetes or smoking and other peripheral artery disease risk factors, such as obesity or high blood pressure, have a greater risk of having PAD.

Orlando nightclub victims' families sue Twitter, Google, Facebook

The three companies plus Microsoft Corp. said this month they would coordinate more to remove extremist content, sharing digital "fingerprints" with each other.

Pulse nightclub GETTY IMAGES

The families of three men killed at Orlando's Pulse gay nightclub have sued Twitter Inc., Alphabet Inc.'s Google and Facebook Inc. in federal court, accusing the companies of providing "material support" to the self-radicalized gunman.

The gunman, 29-year-old Omar Mateen, who killed 49 people and wounded 53 in the deadliest mass shooting in modern U.S. history, pledged allegiance to the Islamic State militant group before police fatally shot him after the June attack, officials said.

The lawsuit was filed on Monday in Detroit federal court by the families of Tevin Crosby, Javier Jorge-Reyes and Juan Ramon Guerrero, who were killed during the massacre.

Similar lawsuits in the past have faced an uphill fight because of strong protections in U.S. federal law for the technology industry.

The three families claim Twitter, Google's YouTube and Facebook "provided the terrorist group ISIS with accounts they use to spread extremist propaganda, raise funds and attract new recruits."

The suit alleges the "material support has been instrumental to the rise of ISIS and has enabled it to carry out or cause to be carried out, numerous terrorist attacks."

Facebook said on Tuesday there is no place on its service for groups that engage in or support terrorism, and that it takes swift action to remove that content when it is reported.

"We are committed to providing a service where people feel safe when using Facebook," it said in a statement. "We sympathize with the victims and their families." REUTERS

Germany frees suspect in market attack, says perpetrator may be still at large

The truck belonged to a Polish freight company and its rightful driver was found shot dead in the vehicle.

German authorities on Tuesday released a Pakistani asylum-seeker suspected of driving a truck into a Berlin Christmas market and killing 12 people due to a lack of evidence and the interior minister said the real perpetrator may still be on the run.

The truck smashed into wooden huts serving mulled wine and sausages on Monday evening at the foot of the Kaiser Wilhelm memorial church, one of west Berlin's most famous landmarks. Forty-five people were injured, 30 severely.

Islamic State claimed responsibility for the attack, saying the perpetrator was a "soldier" of the militant group.

"He executed the operation in response to calls to target nationals of the coalition countries," its AMAQ news agency said.

But Germany's interior minister said that despite the claim, investigators were following various leads.

"We just heard about the supposed claim of responsibility by this so-called Islamic State that is in fact a gang of terrorists," Minister Thomas de Maiziere told ARD broadcaster. "There are several leads that investigators are following now."

The Chief Federal Prosecutor's Office said in a statement it had been unable to prove that the suspect had been in the cabin of the truck at the time of the attack and said he had denied any involvement.

Earlier, Die Welt newspaper quoted an unnamed police chief as saying: "We have the wrong man. And therefore a new situation. The true perpetrator is still armed, at large and can cause fresh damage."

Commenting on the suspect's release, de Maiziere told ZDF television: "That's why it is true that one cannot rule out that the perpetrator is still at large."

He said there was no doubt the Berlin incident had been an attack but the motive remained unclear. He also said it was not yet known how many foreigners were among the victims of the attack but no children had been among the dead.

News of the arrest of the 23-year-old Pakistani had led politicians in Germany and beyond to demand a crackdown on immigration, but Chancellor Angela Merkel urged caution.

"There is much we still do not know with sufficient certainty but we must, as things stand now, assume it was a terrorist attack," she told reporters earlier on Tuesday.

"I know it would be especially hard for us all to bear if it were confirmed that the person who committed this act was someone who sought protection and asylum," she said. REUTERS

BRIEF

Turkish police detain six after Russian ambassador shot dead

Turkish police have detained six people over the killing of Russia's ambassador, security sources said, widening an investigation to relatives of the off-duty policeman who shouted "Don't forget Aleppo!" as he gunned the envoy down.

Both countries cast Monday's attack at an art gallery in the capital Ankara as an attempt to undermine a recent thawing of ties that have been strained by civil war in Syria, where they back opposing sides.

The war, which has killed more than 300,000 people and created a power vacuum exploited by Islamic State, reached a potential turning point last week when Syrian forces ended rebel resistance in the northern city of Aleppo.

Russia, an ally of President Bashar al-Assad, supported that advance with air strikes.

Karlov's remains were sent back to Moscow from Turkey after a ceremony at the airport in Ankara.

The white, red and blue Russian flag was draped on the casket as a Russian Orthodox priest recited prayers.

Turkey identified the killer as 22-year-old Mevlut Mert Altintas, who had worked for the Ankara riot police for 2-1/2 years. Altintas, who also shouted slogans associated with Islamist militancy after shooting ambassador Andrei Karlov, was killed minutes later by members of Turkey's special forces.

His mother, father, sister and two other relatives were held in the western province of Aydin, while his flatmate in Ankara was also detained, security sources said.

One senior Turkish security official said investigators were focusing on whether Altintas had links to the U.S.-based Muslim cleric Fethullah Gulen, whom Ankara blames for a failed July coup. Gulen has denied responsibility for the coup and Monday's attack and has condemned both events.

THOUSANDS of knee arthritis sufferers flock for this advanced medical

Knee Arthritis Pain

Why patients come from Brooklyn, Queens, Long Island, the Bronx for this arthritis pain treatment . . . and why waiting

By Matt Edgar -
America's Health
Writer

NY Pain MD, a center for Non-Surgical Medical Relief For Spine And Joint Pain Relief, is a medical clinic with multiple locations in New York City that has treated thousands of knee arthritis patients. Here is what every knee arthritis sufferer should know about the best treatments and options available today. And why waiting can drastically decrease your chances to live a pain free life again.

The information you are about to read can possibly save you from years and years of agonizing knee pain. It might even keep you from getting total knee replacement surgery. Please pay careful attention.

What you are about to read is a cutting-edge medical treatment... But it is NOT what it appears to be at first glance. In fact, I'm going to have to ask for a bit of patience from you if you have already unsuccessfully tried any (or many) other knee arthritis pain treatments

You see, many knee arthritis sufferers had already tried what seemed to be similar treatments to what we are going to talk about and did not get the results they wanted. But I assure you there is something VERY DIFFERENT about the technology and the way we do this treatment that can possibly make it much more effective for many ... and it often gets results when many others have failed.

This is why patients come from all over the tri-state area and beyond to have their knee arthritis pain treated here.

Would You Like Instant Proof?

If you want instant proof - you can just look at all the actual patient testimonials we have included. These patients were once skeptical just like you ... and are now either pain free ... or eliminated quite a bit of their pain..

Here's the most important thing:

Many said they had seen this information SEVERAL times before finally deciding to take action and give us a call. As you can see - they are happy they did. Once crippled with knee pain, they are playing golf again, dancing again, riding bikes again and going for long walks again.

But We Do Get One Very Common Complaint ... And it is:

"I wish I started this treatment much sooner."

Let's be very clear about this. Time is the most precious thing. There is no way to slow it down - or get any of it back once it's gone.

All the more reason for you to not suffer even one more second than necessary. Missing life while suffering in pain is a tragedy. Isn't it time for you try to get rid of your knee pain and start living the life you want and deserve?

And please understand this: One of the keys to success in medicine is early diagnosis and treatment. Like many diseases, arthritis only gets worse over time. The longer you wait - the more damage to your knee and eventually- the more pain. If you wait "past the point of no return", the entire knee joint can be degenerated and your ONLY option will be total knee replacement.

If you are suffering with knee arthritis pain, here is why you should act NOW:

When you have arthritis, you suffer a decrease in the lubricating fluids in your knee. In other words, your knee joint basically "dries up." The lubricating fluid that decreases is called "synovial fluid". Pharmaceutical companies can now make synovial fluid-like compounds that... during treatment... doctors precisely and directly apply these gel-like medicines into the knee joint. This helps replenish the lubricating fluid to the knee joint - cushioning the knee allowing it to move more freely and smoothly while often decreasing or even eliminating pain.

What Results Can Be Expected?

Like all medical treatments, the results vary and can not be predicted. In fact, it is impossible to predict results and there are no statistics proving what the "average" patients can expect. Everyone is individual and gets individual results - so we never tell anyone to expect the same results as any of our other patients. But to be 100% clear - many knee arthritis sufferers get dramatic results. It is not uncommon for patients to either postpone knee replacement surgery for years ... or even permanently cancel it.

What Are Treatments Like?

Treatments are simple, fast and virtually painless. The total time of the procedure itself is only 10 minutes and you walk out of the clinic just minutes after your procedure with nothing but a one inch band-aid on your knee.

But There Is A BIG Problem. The key is that the treatment must be EXTREMELY PRECISE. Often ignored by many other clinics, if the procedure is just slightly off, the medication will not get exactly into the knee joint and the treatment will not work. That's why the experts at NY Pain MD use what they call "Precision Arthritis Targeting Technology" or P.A.T.T. - so they can confirm the special medicine went directly into the knee joint and not into the surrounding tissues.

Research shows that doctors performing procedures without Precision Arthritis Targeting can miss the joint as much as 30% of the time. If you had viscosupplementation (or Stem Cells or PRP) without the exactness of P.A.T.T. and did not get good results - this may be why.

In fact, by using Precision Arthritis Targeting Technology, NY Pain MD doctors are able to "double confirm" the precise placement of the natural arthritis medicines used. This is to help ensure patients get the best possible results.

Another Important Factor

Viscosupplementation medications also come in several different brands and chemical make- ups. Just like all medications, some people respond better to some than others. While many doctors only use one type or formula, the experts at NY Pain MD use several. And great effort is taken to figure out which is best for YOU.

What To Do Next If You Are In Pain

Your Special Invitation

NY Pain MD offers a limited number of complimentary knee arthritis treatment screenings every month. These screenings are a way for knee arthritis sufferers to get their questions answered and find out if they are a candidate for one of the cutting-edge treatments offered at NY Pain MD. To schedule a complimentary screening, all you have to do is call 800-227-KNEE. The screenings can fill up fast every month. But, this screening is at no cost and there is no further obligation. Call 800-227-KNEE to schedule your screening. Many of the procedures offered at NY Pain MD are often covered by many insurance plans, union plans, work comp and even traditional & AARP Medicare.

al treatment & how they relieved pain while so many continue to suffer n: The Untold Story

c, Staten Island, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and beyond can decrease your chance to live a pain-free life again

"I cannot ask for better results"

Dr. Stanley Weiner, M.D. - Surgeon

I had (replacement) surgery scheduled last year. But three months before the surgery I decided to make an appointment with NY Pain MD. I was amazed at the ease with which I was evaluated and the treatment schedule implemented. The results I had at NY Pain MD were outstanding. I cannot ask for better results. After the treatment I was able to go back to work with no discomfort at all. They use a digital monitor to locate the space that they use the treatment for and it's like exact science and I never had to have replacement.

Dr. Stanley Weiner MD

"Hey this feel terrific"

I was diagnosed with bone on bone about 2 years ago I went to see an Orthopedic Surgeon and he said my knees were shot and I need to get them replaced. The NY Pain guys said after looking at x-rays they could help. That procedure is so basic so simple so quick in 15 minutes you are in and out. When I got up out of the chair I stood up and I said, "Hey this feels terrific."

"I don't have any pain any more"

After I had the treatments ... the last tune up ... I just go right to the golf course. I'm able to keep up with these guys who walk - I'm right next to them! My guys on the golf course would say Hey, look at this he doesn't need us to put the ball up any more.

When I'm playing on the course I don't have any pain any more I don't have any aches and pain. I'm out there playing!

"I feel like a new woman"

I came to the clinic because I was not sleeping at night. My leg was pounding. There were times when I sat too long the knee would tighten up. I would get in pain and I would be miserable and I would have it for the whole night. After the treatment I goof around with my grandchildren. I feel like a new woman. It's great. I know I don't have to sit on the couch and be in pain and I can just pick up and get dressed and go out. It was so gentle.

"I'm able to do it again"

It got to the point where I couldn't stand up for a period of time and I knew something had to be done about it. You walk into the doctors office - he puts your leg in a machine - he shows you where he is going to do the procedure and before you know it... It's done and you're outta there. Now I'm able to take out my bicycle and we took a couple of rides out in the woods and we had a good time and . . . I couldn't do that for years and now I'm able to do it again.

"I feel like a new woman - It's amazing"

The pain was excruciating like 24/7. Nothing I took over-the-counter would work so I knew it was something more serious. When I saw that my condition was not getting any better, I decided to do something about it and I immediately made an appointment - I went and started treatment.

The feeling of getting back to my dancing and my mobility is indescribable. I feel like a new woman - It's amazing.

"I am ecstatic with the results of this procedure"

One day, as I was running, my knee got tighter and tighter. I had to stop and just walk home. They x-rayed me and said I was a candidate for treatment. You sit there for few minutes and then you are up and walking out the door. I am ecstatic with the results of this procedure because I could not run just weeks before. I ran my race without any issues. I felt good - it just opened a door that was closing.

"I Can Finally Live My Life"

Prior the relief center I was taking painkillers and I was becoming addicted to it and it was damaging my health. Since the treatment, I've been able to be less dependent on them. I don't feel helpless anymore. Since going through the procedure I can finally live. I can finally live my life.

US attorney: Bodies of 4 men found buried on ex-cop's property

The mysterious disappearance of four men might be solved after four bodies were found buried on the rented property of an ex-police officer, authorities said on Tuesday.

Nicholas Tartaglione, a former Briarcliff Manor officer, was arrested on drug conspiracy charges on Monday and accused of killing Martin Santos Luna, 41, Urbano Morales Santiago, 32, Miguel Sosa Luna and Hector Gutierrez, 43, in a drug deal gone wrong.

"While all murders tear at the fabric of our communities, when the alleged perpetrator of a gangland-style, quadruple homicide is a former police officer, that strikes at the heart of civilized society," Manhattan U.S. Attorney

Preet Bharara said.

Tartaglione, 49, faces five counts for conspiracy to distribute at least five kilograms of cocaine and the "senseless murder" of the four men, according to Bharara.

The four men were reported missing on April 11 after they were last seen at the Chester Diner in Chester, New York, according to the village police. They were killed somewhere around the Likvid Lounge in Chester, a bar owned by Tartaglione's brother, according to prosecutors.

Their bodies were discovered Tuesday, buried on property in Otisville which was rented by Tartaglione.

Tartaglione and some of the men had allegedly conspired to sell cocaine from June 2015 to April 2016. Bharara said some of the men were involved in the drug deal, but others "were just in the wrong place at the wrong time."

Tartaglione pleaded not guilty on Monday and faces a maximum of life in prison.

Search warrant materials used in Hillary Clinton email probe unsealed

Search warrant documents released on Tuesday related to the probe of Democratic presidential nominee Hillary Clinton's private email setup provided new details about the FBI's decision to revive the investigation days before the Nov. 8 election.

The materials, which related to a search warrant issued after Federal Bureau of Investigation Director James Comey on Oct. 28 informed Congress of the emails, were ordered released on Monday by U.S. District Judge Kevin Castel in Manhattan.

Comey's letter drew new attention to Clinton's use of the server while she was secretary of state from 2009 to 2013 and roiled the campaign 11 days before the election, which Republican Donald Trump won.

In an affidavit, an FBI agent said there was "probable cause" to believe emails between Clinton and a person whose name was redacted were among "thousands" found on a laptop that contained State Department correspondence.

But the filings gave no indication that any emails involving Clinton containing classified information had been found on the laptop at the time the warrant was issued on Oct. 30.

The laptop belonged to Anthony Weiner, the estranged husband of Clinton aide Huma Abedin, who was the subject of an investigation after a report about cellphone and online messages he sent a 15-year-old girl.

The search warrant

Hillary Clinton GETTY IMAGES

materials' release was sought by Randol Schoenberg, a Los Angeles-based lawyer, who in court papers said transparency was crucial given the potential influence the probe had on the election's outcome.

In a statement, Schoenberg said he saw "nothing to suggest that there would be anything other than routine correspondence between Secretary Clinton and her longtime aide Huma Abedin." REUTERS

BRIEF

Former Flint emergency managers, others charged in water crisis

Michigan prosecutors on Tuesday charged four former government officials in Flint, including two city emergency managers, with conspiring to violate safety rules in connection with the city's water crisis that exposed residents to dangerous levels of lead.

Former state-appointed emergency managers Darnell Earley and Gerald Ambrose and former city employees Howard Croft, a public works superintendent, and Daugherty Johnson, a utilities manager, were the latest to be charged in the case, Attorney General Bill Schuette said.

The defendants conspired to operate the city's water treatment plant when it was not safe to do so, he told a news conference.

"Flint was a casualty of arrogance, disdain and failure of management, an absence of accountability," Schuette said.

Michigan has been at the center of a public health crisis since last year, when tests found high amounts of lead in blood samples taken from children in Flint, a predominantly black city of about 100,000.

Asked whether the investigation would lead to charges against higher-placed state officials, Schuette reiterated that no one was excluded.

Some critics have called for high-ranking state officials, including Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, to be charged. Snyder has said he believed he had not done anything criminally wrong.

Snyder spokeswoman Anna Heaton said by email that the state remains committed to helping Flint recover.

Johnson's attorney, Edward Zeineh, said his client pleaded not guilty in court on Tuesday. "We will vigorously defend these proceedings in court," Zeineh said. REUTERS

Prosecutors: 'The Jinx' finale motivated quick arrest of murder suspect Durst

Authorities moved quickly to arrest wealthy real estate scion Robert Durst last year because they feared he would flee after his confession to multiple killings was aired in the chilling HBO documentary "The Jinx," Los Angeles prosecutors said.

Prosecutors made the disclosure in court papers filed on Monday ahead of a hearing Durst is scheduled to attend on Wednesday in Los Angeles, where he has been charged with the 2000 murder of writer Susan Berman.

Durst, 73, who has pleaded not guilty, is charged with shooting Berman, his longtime friend, in Los Angeles because of what she might have known about the disappearance of his wife, Kathleen, in 1982 when the Dursts lived in New York City.

The case is likely to revive discussions not only about the investigation of Durst in his wife's disappearance, which remains unresolved, but also his 2003 acquittal by a jury in the killing of his Texas neighbor two years before.

Durst was arrested on suspicion of Berman's murder at a New Orleans hotel on March 14, 2015 — one day before the airing of the final episode of "The Jinx."

In that last episode, Durst was presented with evidence that his handwriting appeared to match that of Berman's likely killer. His voice was captured on a microphone after the interview, muttering off-camera: "What the hell did I do? Killed them all, of course."

Prosecutors in the court papers filed on Monday said Durst "confessed to killing multiple people" with those comments and they moved fast to have him arrested for Berman's slaying because they feared he would run.

"The Jinx's" final episode ... was about to become public and defendant [Durst] was about to hear for the first time this extremely damning evidence," prosecutors wrote.

Prosecutors have not said how they knew what Durst would say in the episode.

Durst told authorities in Louisiana shortly after his arrest that for as long as he could remember he smoked marijuana daily and was high on methamphetamine when he talked to "The Jinx" filmmakers, according to a transcript filed in court on Friday. REUTERS

Margot Robbie confirms marriage

It's almost hard to imagine Margot Robbie in a crisp white wedding gown after playing the grungy Harley Quinn in this year's "Suicide Squad." But she wasn't playing a role Sunday when she secretly married her longtime boyfriend, Tom Ackerley, in Australia. According to The Telegraph, the couple had a small ceremony attended by family in Byron Bay. The newlyweds met in 2013 on the set of "Suite Française," on which Ackerley was an assistant director. The 26-year-old actress took to Instagram on Tuesday to confirm her new relationship status. Robbie posted a picture her sparkly new ring in high focus as she and Ackerley kissed in the background. Ackerley is no Batman, but he sure is cute.

We've used a lot of words to describe Khloe, Kourtney and Kim Kardashian, but relatable has rarely been among them. That changes today. More information has been revealed about the major meltdown between their baby brother, Rob, and his fiancée, Blac Chyna, that took place over the weekend, and the three sisters feel just like we do: completely over it. According to TMZ, a fight between the couple turned physical and had to be broken up by Corey Gamble, Kris Jenner's longtime boyfriend. At least two of the Kardashian sisters were called over to mediate, but Chyna had already left the premises. They think both Rob and Chyna are to blame for the dysfunction in their relationship and are tired of the emotional roller coaster. As of now, Rob and Chyna are still together but living separately. Will they ever stop trolling us?

Sarah Paulson fangirls over Rihanna, too

Sarah Paulson, the actress known for her work on "American Horror Story" and "The People vs. O.J. Simpson," is working on the film "Ocean's Eight." Paulson is in great company on the set, with co-stars including Sandra Bullock, Anne Hathaway, Mindy Kaling and Rihanna. As a guest on NBC's "Late Night with Seth Meyers," Paulson dished on fangirling over the singer: The actress hums Rihanna songs on set, much to Bullock's irritation; she soaks up the paparazzi attention that is actually meant for Rih; and she pretended to like a pair of pants because RiRi thought they were cool. Paulson told Meyers there is a picture of Rihanna in the dictionary next to "cool." That dictionary anecdote is totally true. Check out the interview at metro.us.

Amy Schumer buys back the family farm

Before Amy Schumer was the annoyingly offensive comedienne extraordinaire that we've all come to know, she was the daughter of a wealthy business owner. But that changed when Schumer was 9 and her father was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis, causing the family to ultimately go bankrupt. One of the casualties of their financial crisis was her father's farm. But Schumer may have just copped the best Christmas gift ever for her dad. According to her Instagram account, on Monday Schumer purchased the farm so that it's once again in the family. What's the point of being worth millions if you can't use it to make your family's dreams come true?

In "Fences," in theaters Sunday, from August Wilson's play, Jovan Adepo plays the son of a tyrannical father (Denzel Washington, who also directed). PARAMOUNT PICTURES

Jovan Adepo swears Denzel is funny

The "Leftovers" actor's first big film is Washington's adaptation of the August Wilson play "Fences."

MATT PRIGGE
@mattprigge
matt.prigge@metro.us

Jovan Adepo never performed August Wilson before he was cast in "Fences." It was not, however, the actor's first dalliance with the playwright. He'd seen "Joe Turner's Come and Gone," the acclaimed playwright's 1984 work, staged in Los Angeles a few years back. But he still had reason to be nervous: Despite playing Michael Murphy on "The Leftovers," "Fences" was his first motion picture. And it involved acting alongside titans like Denzel Washington, who also directed, and Viola Davis. In the film, Adepo plays Cory, who's terrorized by his bitter, former ballplayer father (Washington) in 1950s Pittsburgh. Still, the actor tells us the experience didn't wind up being terrifying.

You have "The Leftovers" on your résumé, but did you still feel at all intimidated coming onto a film with no less than Denzel Washington and Viola Davis? Incredibly, incredibly, incredibly intimidated and nervous. Denzel is one of my heroes. I spent many years [laughs] trying to mimic his great performances in front of the bathroom mirror — trying to do Rubin from “The Hurricane” or one of his scenes from “Mo’ Better Blues,” and missing the mark totally because I’m not Denzel.

Getting to meet him in the flesh and spend time with him day-to-day — just hoping to be the pupil to the master — was something I couldn’t believe I was getting.

And what is he like in person?
He’s so warm. I definitely didn’t realize how big a sense of humor he had — him and Viola, which really gets me. Some of the roles they’ve played are so heavy. You would think in between takes they’d always be locked away in a room, just to prepare. But they kept me in stitches. I’m serious! It’s kind of surprising.

Viola in person is super-funny. She is just direct and honest, and there’s something about that that’s funny.

She’s deadpan. There’s no point in jumping around what she’s trying to say. She just says it. Then you’re cracking up laughing, and she’s like, “What? I’m serious!” That’s what makes her funnier.

It’s important to make jokes when you’re making something as serious as “Fences,” I’d assume.
I don’t want to make it sound like we were just goofing off. We would approach August Wilson’s work with respect, because that’s what it deserves. But if you’re filming heavy scenes, it’s hard to go in there and have this downtrodden, dark set, especially if you’re shooting 12 hours a day. So there would be moments when we were serious, but somebody was always going to crack a joke, just to lighten the mood. You had to; it just called for it at times.

I imagine you needed some levity while shooting Cory’s altercation towards the end with Troy.

Oh yeah, Denzel was a lot of fun during that. There were a lot of moving parts in that altercation, a lot of things that could have gone wrong. Luckily Denzel is a professional who’s done great things with action films. I completely trusted him and felt comfortable submitting my body to what was going to happen. I walked away with slight bruises, but nothing I didn’t sign up for.

If you didn’t get some bruises, it wouldn’t have been the same experience.

You want to take away something. They serve as conversation starters. [Laughs]

New Affordable Condominiums for Sale at 70 West 139 Condominium

Harlem Park Development LLC, is pleased to announce that applications are now being accepted for 42 affordable new condominiums now under construction at 70 West 139 Street in the West Harlem section of Manhattan. Sponsor has applied for a real property tax exemption under Section 421-a of the Real Property Tax Law (the "421-a Program"). The 421-a Program is administered by the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development ("HPD") and provides new multiple dwellings with an exemption from real property taxes based upon the increase in value due to the new multiple dwelling that is being constructed on the property. These benefits equal up to three years of construction period benefits (100% exemption) and between ten and twenty-five years of post-construction period benefits (which start at 100% and phase-out over the post-construction benefit period). HPD issued a Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility for 70 West 139th Street for construction period benefits on November 9, 2016. To continue to be eligible for 421-a tax exemption benefits, which for 70 West 139th Street would include twenty-five years of post-construction real property tax exemption benefits, the developer must comply with any additional requirements of the 421-a Program and receive a Final Certificate of Eligibility from HPD that the developer must thereafter file with the Department of Finance. Otherwise, 70 West 139 Street may lose all of its 421-a tax benefits all the way back to the benefits granted by the Preliminary Certificate of Eligibility.

The amenities will include an expansive lobby with virtual doorman, onsite parking for 32 cars and 34 bicycles (with 220V electric outlets for car charging), 54 private storage rooms and an indoor & outdoor fitness and recreation center.

The estimated sales prices, unit sizes, and income requirements are as follows:

421-a Units at 90%, 125%, 150%, and 165% of Area Median Income (AMI)

LOVE WHERE YOU LIVE

Festive tips for the broke and busy.

KATE MOONEY
@yatinbrooklyn
kate.mooney@metro.us

'Tis the season for merri-ment, booze and holiday parties galore. But for many, the end of the year is also the busy season, when the workload piles up before vacation. If you want to spread some holiday cheer but don't necessarily have the time or money to go full-on Martha Stewart, there are still ways to get festive.

We asked Lisa Rickert, the CEO and creative director of modern-furniture retailer Ave Home, to tell us her tricks for quick and budget-friendly, yet elegant, holiday decorating.

As the founder of Unfolded, the exclusive distributor of Annie Sloan's Chalk Paint brand, she also knows her way around a DIY project.

Keep it natural

Rickert likes to use a lot of greenery in her holiday displays — be it with store-bought garlands, or even branches and pine cones collected from the park. The trick is in the presentation.

First, Rickert decorates the wood pieces with gold leaf and Annie Sloan Gold Size glue. "I like to add a little glitz and glimmer," she says.

Once they're glammed up a bit, she suggests displaying the branches in a vase or as part of a table centerpiece, along with ribbon. If you're having a dinner party, gold-leaf-highlighted pine cones can serve as table settings or as holders for your guests' name cards.

You don't have to stick to red and green

"Anyone who appreciates a little more-modern style is going to like the idea of an atypical holiday coloring," Rickert says. She opts for gold and silver tones, which nicely accent the natural greenery and browns of holiday firs, creating more of a winter scheme, rather than "full-on Christmas," she says.

Another upside? A more neutral palette of metallic and natural tones won't completely throw off the color scheme you've already established in your home. "A lot of times if somebody's decorating for the holidays and they have a blue or yellow pillow, they're going to remove those objects," Rickert says.

Ornaments don't necessarily have to go on the tree

Instead, take any glass vase or container and fill it with ornaments to create a festive display case. You can layer different colored ball ornaments — "It's about creating an illusion of color and texture," she says — or you can also line the bottom of the container with a garland for a filler, and then place a few stand-out ornaments on top.

NFL power rankings | by Luke Miller

No. 1

Patriots
(12-2)

The Jets and the Dolphins are all that stand between New England and home field advantage through the playoffs. The Patriots are 2-0 so far against those teams this season, but neither victory came easily. The Jets nearly upset the Pats, and the Dolphins almost rallied from a 31-3 hole. Just hang tight and hope that scenario doesn't repeat itself with Tom Brady, Patriots fans.

No. 2

Cowboys
(12-2)

Dak Prescott had his best game in at least a month in Dallas' prime time win against the Buccaneers, and that should put to rest the questions about Tony Romo that had started to poke their heads above the sand during the Dallas offense's dry streak.

No. 3

Raiders
(11-3)

Stay focused on your own business and look what happens: Oakland is back in first in the AFC West and on track for a first round bye in the playoffs. It's fitting that to clinch the division they'll likely have to win the season finale against the Broncos, the defending Super Bowl and AFC West champions.

No. 4

Giants
(10-4)

We're not shaping up for a third Giants-Patriots Super Bowl are we? Who would the favorites be? Ask the Giants and they'll probably want it to be the Patriots, as that scenario has worked out pretty well for them in the past. Winning against the Eagles this weekend will clinch the top wild-card spot.

No. 5

Chiefs
(10-4)

A week after another impressive win, Kansas City's weakness is showing through: They can't sustain offense. Zero is how many points the Chiefs had in the second half. Their defense might be the best in the NFL, but they ask an awful lot of it every week. They need more to vie for a Super Bowl.

No. 6

Falcons
(9-5)

Even when you're not missing Julio Jones, 83-17 is a pretty good two week stretch, no matter who it comes against. The Falcons have the inside track to the NFC South and the NFC's second first-round bye is still up for grabs with Atlanta, Detroit and Seattle all sitting at nine wins.

No. 7

Seahawks
(9-4-1)

The Seahawks handed out revenge for their early season defeat to the now-hapless Rams. They have more division "rivals" to feast on in the next two games, and if they beat the Cardinals and 49ers they'll have locked up the No. 2 seed in the playoffs and a first-round bye thanks to their earlier tie.

No. 8

Lions
(9-5)

Everything was going right for Detroit. They had the Giants right where they wanted them: winning in the fourth quarter. This loss doesn't change too much for Detroit, though it does take them out of the driver's seat for a first-round bye.

No. 9

Packers
(8-6)

The Packers nearly blew a big lead to the Bears but hung on in Week 15. Winners of four straight after losing four straight, the Packers offense looks like it's once again among the most dangerous in the league, and the defense has been feasting on turnovers with eight picks in the last two games.

No. 10

Steelers
(9-5)

Pittsburgh just couldn't give us a 21-20 win on seven field goals, could they? It isn't quite Christmas yet, we suppose. Though Steelers fans have been getting presents since before Thanksgiving with five straight wins. The rematch against the Ravens is essentially for the division.

- 11 — Ravens (8-6)
- 12 — Dolphins (9-5)
- 13 — Titans (8-6)
- 14 — Buccaneers (8-6)
- 15 — Texans (8-6)
- 16 — Broncos (8-6)
- 17 — Colts (7-7)
- 18 — Washington (7-6-1)
- 19 — Bills (7-7)
- 20 — Vikings (7-7)
- 21 — Panthers (6-8)
- 22 — Saints (6-8)
- 23 — Cardinals (5-8-1)
- 24 — Bengals (5-8-1)
- 25 — Eagles (5-9)
- 26 — Chargers (5-9)

Legal Notice

NOTICE OF CLASS ACTION SETTLEMENT HEARING

METROPOLITAN MUSEUM OF ART ADMISSIONS CLAIM

This Notice is to inform all persons who purchased either admission to the Metropolitan Museum of Art (the "Museum") or a membership in the Museum on or after March 5, 2007 of a proposed Settlement of a class action brought against the Museum on your behalf in the Supreme Court of the State of New York.

The lawsuit alleges that the Museum's disclosures of its current admission fee policy violate consumer protection laws by not adequately disclosing to visitors that they may enter the Museum upon payment of an amount of their choice ("pay what you wish"). The Museum denies those allegations.

The parties have agreed to a proposed settlement under which the Museum, without any concession, finding of wrongdoing, or agreement regarding the adequacy or inadequacy of the current disclosures, will revise its signs, website, and other disclosures of its "pay what you wish" admission fee policy. No money will be paid to class members, and no adjudication of any claims for money damages they may have will occur.

The Court will hold a hearing on approval of the Settlement at 10:00 a.m. on March 14, 2017, in Courtroom 228, 60 Centre Street, New York, NY 10007. Any class member may present objections he or she has to the Settlement.

You may learn more about the Settlement and procedures for objecting to it at www.mtfees.com, or by calling Class Counsel at (212) 763-5068. PLEASE DO NOT CONTACT THE COURT.

Aries Your emotions will be difficult to control. Don't let the past bring you down or allow what someone says to cause you grief. Remember the good times.

Taurus You need to live within your means. It's important to know where you stand financially. Move into the new year with a strategy in place.

Gemini Socialize with friends or go shopping with someone who can help you find excellent bargains. Love is in the stars. Don't hesitate to make a romantic gesture.

Cancer Be careful not to take on too much. Make it very clear what you can and cannot do. Refuse to let anyone take advantage of you, your time or your generosity.

Leo Update your appearance or take better care of yourself and improve the way you treat others. A personal promise will bring positive change and stability.

Virgo Something you were counting on isn't likely to unfold the way you expected. Remain calm and think strategically how best to handle the outcome or disappointment.

Libra Emotions will rise to the surface if you discuss your plans. Someone will not be happy with the choices you make. Stick to your decision if it's what you really want.

Scorpio Emotionally charged spending will cause stress when the bills come in. You cannot win someone's heart with an extravagant purchase. Use your imagination.

Sagittarius A physical improvement will add to your appeal. Preparing for the festive season and doing something nice for someone will have an impact on your personal life.

Capricorn Stay within your budget. Spending too much will be stressful when the bills arrive. Put more emphasis on being sincere instead of paying for others.

Aquarius You must make a change to a pending settlement that needs attention. Looking forward and preparing for the future will contribute to your success.

Pisces Discussions will help you get a better view of a situation that could end badly if too much time or money will be required. Stick to what is doable. EUGENIA LAST
